Paying for Your Visit

The admission fee is due when you arrive at the museum. We accept Visa, Master Card and Discover as well as cash and checks. Checks must be made out to The University of Texas at Austin.

To request an invoice, please email Ben Grall, Visitor Services Manager, at b.grall@austin.utexas.edu. Be sure to include your reservation confirmation number as well as the exact number of visitors (students, teachers, parents etc.) to be included on the invoice. If your organization issues a check to you in advance, please be aware that we cannot give cash back for checks written for more than the amount due.

If you would like to arrange to pre-pay for your visit by credit card over the phone, email Ben Grall at b.grall@austin.utexas.edu and provide a phone number, day and time that you can be reached. Ben will contact you to process the payment. Please note: If you choose to pre-pay, refunds cannot be issued once payment is collected. If you are unsure of the final number of visitors attending, we recommend you wait to pay until you arrive at the museum, or pay for only the number of visitor you know will be attending and then pay for any additional visitors on the day of your visit. Admission fees can be found on our website.

The Great Hall Shop

A maximum of 20 children/students are allowed in the Great Hall Shop at one time and they must be accompanied by an adult. Gift shop sales directly support the museum and we appreciate all business, but if students do not intend to make a purchase, we recommend not allowing them into the shop.
